November 29, 1847. INTERESTING TO FARHERS. THE Farmers of Marion and adjoining counties are hereby informed, that the undersigned is now having manufactured at Indianplanting wheat in tows, or with a drilling machine, has long been familiar with the English husbandman, and for several years past has been in practice with many of the enterprising farmers of New York. Pennsylvania, and others of the older wheat growing States. Agticultural papers have often alluded to the practice, advising its adoption, and giving many results showing a saving of seed and of labor, acre, or twenty to thirty per eeut, has been the usual increased yield over the broadcast system. Wheat planted by this machine is equally distributed to rows to a uniform depth. Hence a uniformity in the size and length of straw, not to be found in wheat mixed with the earth at various depths, as by the old method. Many advantages inclifent to the drill system, are given by writers, who have fully proved its utility by practice; one of the most prominent of which is, the protection of the wheat from being winter killed. About 10 acres per day with a machine adapted to this section of country, and 14 to 16 acres per day with those suitable for a prairie, may be estimated as the usual days' work for a hand and two horses to plant all complete. 7.1.2 and 8 feet, together with all other kinds of saws used in me- se Farmer, February number, 1849 page 40, speaking of Drilling and Horse hoeing, asserts, upon his own experience, that "land that ordinarily produces only fifteen or twenty bushels per acre, will under favorable circumstances, yield from thirty to thirty five, and even as selves acquainted, as fully as possible, with this mode of cultivation. A field of ten acres of wheat, drilled only, now growing on the farm of James Blake, Esq. in the suburbs of this city, affords a practical

JUDSON'S STAVE-DRESSER. THIS Machine, on which LETTERS PATENT were granted on the first of May, 1847, is one of the most important improvements of the age. The DRESSER is accompanied by a JOINTER of an entire Bars, Fire Fronts, &c. Also, the celebrated and far-tamed new construction, which produces a most perfect joint, preparing staves without any reflitting, of sizes varing from a half barrel to a hagshead, that when set up will be found perfectly air-tight. This Machinery is re-ommended with confidence to the attention of all persons engaged in the Coop rage business, either for their own mills, or in the manufacture of cooperage ware for the YDS. Ingrain, Venetian and Cotton Carpetings; also also at St. Louis, (Mo.) and Urbans, Ohio, and driven by water or steam power.
